MONDAY, JAN. 18, 1858.

DESPERATE. - The telegraph reports the following as a portion of the remarks of a member of Congress the other day:

Mr. Davis, of Md., said no man held the political press in more contempt than he did. He stood in no fear of it, and held it in such utter contempt that he should take no notice of it, except to carry it be-fore the grand jury a vile libel. When charges are made by the press, he deemed them unworthy of in-

made by the press, and the vestigation.

He regarded his reputation and of every gentleman here more than enough to look in the face the whole combined press of the country, but this was

Now of course nobody believes that Mr. Davis. who, we are sorry to say, is or calls himself an American, really holds the press in contempt, though he may very likely be shallow enough to imagine that somebody will believe that he does, since he is not too deep to assert it. We need harily say, however, that there are many excellent reasons for believing that Mr. Davis is one of the veriest slaves of the press in the whole country. Indeed, we havn't the slightest doubt that he was trembling violently in his shoes when he uttered this piece of unpardonable insolence.

In the first place, it is impossible for any sane, educated, aspiring man, such as Mr. Davis unquestionably is, to feel the sweeping contempt which he professes for the press. The thing is a pitiful affectation. It is absurd to talk about it. He might as well proclaim his contempt for the air he breathes. The man who is above or below the influence of the press is equally beyond the reach of public opinion. He can't despise the one without being dead to the other. Most certainly Mr. Davis is not such a man. But the affectation of a sentiment implies the reality vehoment abuse is not the language of contempt. On the contrary, it is highly expressive of mingled fear, hatred, and respect. Mr. Davis, accordingly, in undertaking to tell how much he despises the ress, has succeeded only in telling how much he stands in dread of it. So far from cherishing any real contempt for the press, he shows that he doesn't even know what the feeling is. His arrogant vitnperation seems to have arisen from the same feeling which prompts a timid boy to whistle on his nocturnal walks. It was simply a vulgar trick to keep his

In the third place, Mr. Davis is one of those pretty, swelling, declamatory sort of men to whom the applause of the press is exactly what the smiles of women are to the exquisites of society. Without the breath of such applause his flickering name would die out of the minds of men. The fires of $20,000,000—to be advanced to these contractors, to Mr. Davis's mind, it is no treason to say, are not be returned by them in the transportation service sufficiently Promethean to defy the extinguishing force of the contempt he affects to cherish. Outside of his immediate constituency, he exists pclitically at the mercy of the press. As regards the country at large, the press has only to be silent, and Mr. Davis will never again be heard of. Isn't it taxing the public risicilities very seriously for such a man to get up in Congress and, without any particular provocation, declare superciliously that he considers his reputation "more than enough to look in the face the whole combined press of the country!" Isn't it the very cream of the ridicu-

Probably the true solution of this shabby fling is the absence of Mr. Davis's name from the newspapers for the last six months. Stnng to desperation by a neglect which he may as well consider a foretaste of oblivion, he has possibly resolved to attract the notice of the press even at the risk of exciting its scorn. If this was his motive, he is welcome, so far as we are concerned, to the success which has crowned his dashing expedient.

The election for Marshal of the City Court on Saturday resulted in the choice of Mr. W. H. Benson, the American candidate, by over 500 majority. The vote was small. We have not yet received the full returns.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Joshua Hughes (son of Willis G. Hughes), who was shot accidentally a few days ago, has entirely recovered.

THE SUBMARINE OPERATIONS AT SEBASTOPOL. Private advices received in New York city from Sebastopol by the last steamer confirm the report that the "Boston Relief and Submarine Company" had, for the present, abandoned the attempt to raise the sunken vessels, which they sub-contracted to do in connection with the Philadelphia "Marine Exploring Company," receiving one-third of the profits accruing from the sale of the recovered materials, such as chains, anchors, guns, and rigging. The process by which this Boston Company proposed to do the work was by clearing away all the movable irou, stopping up the hatchways, port heles, and all other apertures, and then rapidly pumping out the water through an immense pipe, by a very powerful steam pump (Gwin's), until there should be a sufficient vacuum in the hold to float the vessel These operations were tried without success on one ship, the "Chesmer," for a period of several months. Two gangs of divers were employed for a long time in making the necessary preparations under water-removing incumbrances, covering the batches, the air ports, and the holes which were bored by the Russians to scuttle her. When it was supposed that the Chesmer had been made comparatively air tight, two Gwin pnmps were brought to bear, and succeeded in raising from 6,000 to 7,000 gallons a minute; but all to no purpose, for the water flowed in as fast as it was pumped out. A subsequent examination disclosed the fact that the vessel had no water stops in the lower gun deck between her frames, and this was found to present an insuperable difficulty in the way of further operations. Had those apertures been closed, it is not improbable that the water would have come in through others which had also escaped observation. The Company are still engaged in fishing up chains, anchors, &c., but it is not probable that they will resume work on the original plan, but, if they go on at all, will resort to blasting, and the removal of the fragments by piecemeal.

The Philadelphia Company have been devoting themselves thus far to preparations for work-clearing the vessels of iron (fifteen have already been cleared) and constructing enormous floating hollow docks known as calssons, 50 by 40 feet on the surface and 15 feet deep. These caissons are to be placed fore and aft of the sunken vessels, then to be filled with water, and submarged till the tops barely that, after which they will be chained to the vessels, the water pumped out of the caussons, and it is expected that their increased buoyancy will then raise the vessels so that the latter can be towed into shallow water and grounded. This preparatory work has been going on for about four months The Company hope to be ready in the spring to apply their lifting process, the principle of which was successfully tested in raising the ship Union, in the Delaware river, last summer. The final operations are necessarily postponed till spring, as the water during the winter is too cold to permit the divers to do their indispensable preliminary work.

TROOPS FOR UTAH .- Orders have been received at the New York station to hurry up the recruiting and came through without molestation. It was cerbusiness, and forward men as fast as possible for the tainly an undertaking at this scason of the year. Utah service. A detachment will probably be sent from New York in the course of the next fortnight; first to Jefferson Barracks, there to be drilled and got into fighting order, and will thence be moved to Fort Leavenworth, where they will be added to the various regiments which will require filling up. The regiments specially detached by Lieutenant General Scott, with the approbation of the War De partment, to reinforce the army of Utah are the first regiment of cavalry, sixth and seventh regiments of infantry, the fourth regiment of artillery, and light companies A and M of the second artillery. The additional force will number over 2,700 men, which with the (about) 2,900 already in the Territory, will make up an army large enough to bring the rebellious fanatics to terms. General Scott's orders direct that Forts Smith, Washita, Arbuckle, and Belknap shall be abandoned for the present, and that all the troops ecomprising the garrisons, excepting the ordnance sergeants, shall at the earliest possible day proceed In the second place, impertinent, elaborate, and to Jefferson Barracks. > The U. S. Senate's Special Committee on the Pacific Railroad have had several conferences, and the prospect is that they will be able soon to unite upon a bill. The details have not been settled upon trial was made. yet, but the general features of the plan likely to be adopted are as follows: It is proposed not to give out a contract for the construction of the railroad, but to authorize liberal contracts for the transportation of mails and munitions of war between the Atlantie and the Pacific oceans, by railroad.

It is also proposed to capitalize the entire sum of money which is agreed to be paid for transportation and to issue United States bonds-not exceeding contracted for, they, in the mean time, to secure the United States by a lien upon their road.

With these bonds it is supposed the contractors can readily purchase their iron and the equipment of the road. In farther aid of the enterprise it is proposed to make liberal grants of land in the Ter ritories, both bonds and lands to be given, in small quantities, as the work progresses.

THE FILIBUSTERS AT NORFOLK .- The Mayor of Norfolk having complained of the landing of Walker's men there, as being a violation of a city ordinance in relation to paupers, Lieut. Bryson, at the time commanding, replied that the men who had gone ashore had done so voluntarily, he having not forced but permitted them, under instructions from the Government. Those remaining on board, he says, will not be permitted to land without further orders from Washington.

Fire.-The fire last night was on the northeast corner of Market and Brook streets. It burned the roof of the corner building and that adjoining it, and damaged the upper stories. The buildings were occupied by A. E. Dinkelspiel as a clothing store and E. Gerette as a confectionery, and they also resided in them with their families. Their goods were much damaged by water. Dinkelspiel was insured in $5,000 and Gerette in $800-both in the Farmers and Mechanics' of Philadelphia. The buildings are owned by Mr. Will, of Lexington.

[From the New York Ledger.] TO MISS SALLIE M. BRYAN.

BY GEO. D. PRENTICE. Long thy mystic tones, dear Sallie. Have been sounding through my brain, Like the distant voice of occan In the lause of wind and rain; Aud in midnight's solemn musings And the haunted dreams of sleep Oft to thine my spirit answers, As deep calletti nato deep.

I have dreamed thy soul a sea-shell From the upper deep ablime Cast by some unpitying billow On this rocky shore of time, Where its sweet and dirgs-like breathings Seem a low and monraful sigh-A deep, ever-restless pining For its far home in the sky.

I have dreamed thy soul a wind-harp, Of a weird and wondrons power, Breathing out its strange, wild music In the twilight's wizard-hour, Gently swe, t by gales of Eden (When the earth-wind's wings are furled). And in monraful cadence telling Of its own dear native world.

There's a realm within thy spirit, Filled with grandenr and with gloom, Where each tone is like a heart-wail, And each earth-swell seems a tomb: And the flowers—a sombre timing Overspreads their ghostly forms, As if nurtured by the droppings But of 1 assing thunder-storms,

While thy calm, angelic features In screnest beauty sleep, Thy high thoughts, in vivid flashes, On our startied vision leap; 'Tis as if the keen, red lightnings Should burst wildly from the fold Of a soft, white cloud of morning Tinged with violet, blue, and gold,

There's a tall plant of the Tropics, That, amid is bristling spears, Puts forth one all-beautions blossom With each score of passing years. And our human race, dear minstrel. Is a plant of kindred power, Once in each score years it blossoms. And thon art its glorious flower.

NEWS FROM THE PLAINS .- The Leaveuwort! City Ledger of the 8th inst. says that three young men, Henry Baker, James Smith, and Alexander Francis, arrived there on Thursday afternoon, the 7th, direct from Fort Bridger. They came the whole distance, twelve hundred miles, on foot, and accoun plished their journey in forty-five days.

They report that the day they left, six Mormon: ame into the camp and reported that the Mormons were in a state of civil war, Brigham Young and about one-half desiring to march against the treops; the other half being in favor of the troops goning into Salt Lake and establishing a military government there, and overthrowing the powers that be. These gentlemen left Leavenworth last July, with the train of Ilenry Charles. Alleged Heavy Forgery in Boston.—The Boston Transcript says Mr. Donald McLellan, a well known manufacturer, residing and doing business in Clinton, who, for some time past, by means of the name and influence of Mr. Jno. H. W. Page, Boston, has negotiated notes at one or more of the banks in that city, was recently suspected by Mr. Page of affixing other names than his own to some of the notes which he had negotiated. Mr. Page questioned McLellan about it, and as soon as he alluded to the subject McLellan rushed out of the office, but was caught in the street and reconducted to the office. While Mr. Page was deliberating what to do, McLellan raised the window and leaped out into the street, a distance of 20 feet, and escaped. The Transcript says:

"It is supposed that McLellan has been practising similar forgeries for a considerable time past, and several of the supposed forged notes have been redeemed at maturity. Certain it is that two forged notes, one for $1.100 and the other for $2.300. are

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river commenced rising on Saturday, and up to last evening had come up about a foot. La tevening there were 8 feet 3 inches water in the canal by the mark, but boats drawing 9 feet could go through the canal without difficulty. On the fulls there were 6 feet 4 icches in the Kentucky pass and 51/2 feet in the Indiana pass. The weather during the last two days has been clear and cool.

Steambout Explosion and Loss of Life. - On the 9th, as the Post Boy, a steamboat engaged in the wood business, was getting up steam preparatory to leaving her landing, opposite Jefferson City Stock Landing, near New Orleans, her three boilers exploded, from want of water in them. Two firemen were killed on the spot; the two engineers were hadly scalded and bruised; the pilot was severely hurt, his skull and right arm being fractured, and the cook, a negro boy, was also badly scalded. The oat sank within three minutes after the explosion. Fragments of the wreck were scattered in every direction, large portions of the boilers being thrown a distance of three hundred feet, and twisted into all manner of shapes.

The R. J. Ward.—This magnificent steamer arrived from New Orleans yesterday afternoon. We have not received her manifest or papers. The Ward is advertised to leave again to-day. Her magnificent accommodations will secure for her a full complement of passengers.

The Fanny Bullitt.—This fine steamer arrived on Saturday evening. We thank her attentive clerks for copies of the manifest and memorandum. She is advertised to return to New Orleans this evening. The Bullitt has superb accommodations, and Capt. Dunham and Mr. Judge are model officers.

The H. D. Newcomb is due from New Orleans tomorrow. The Peter Tellon is advertised to leave there on Friday next.

The following we take from the St. Louis Republican, of Saturday:

The river was falling at this point yesterday, and the last arrival from Cairo reports 6½ feet in the channel to that point. We have no change to report in any of the upper rivers. The Mississippi is clear of ice up to Keokuk, with 3½ feet in the channel. Navigation in the Mississippi between this port and Cairo is becoming difficult, and in some places dangerous. The water is falling, and the numberless snags in the bed of the river are drawing quite too near the surface not to be dreaded by even numberless snags in the bed of the river are drawing quite too near the surface not to be dreaded by even the best of pilots. The Philadelphia eams in damaged slightly by picking up an ugly snag, and the Flying Cloud was lately snak by coming in contact with one of them at Goose Island. The last dispatch states that the boat was afloat and that the crew would be able to keep her pumped out.

The officers of the Marie Denning report the New Monongahela almost high and dry. There is very little water around her or anywhere near bor. She is perfectly straight, is in no danger of breaking in two, and may be considered as laid up for the wirster. She has no freight in her, it all having been taken to Cairo.

Further developments have been made in the Cincinnati abortion case. The girl, Victoria Hughes, whose true name is Bethany Cannon, has died. Mrs. Schultz, the woman who procured the abortion, has been committed to answer in default of giving bail Fravis opened his pistol galliery on the north side of in $2,500, and a Mrs. Shaw has been committed as Main street, about midway between Second and an accessory. District Attorney Mann opened the argument for the Commonwealth to-day in the case of Thomas W. Smith, now on trial for the murder of Mr. Car-ter, President of the Tamaqua Bank. Mr. Mann combatted the plea of insanity, but stated that there has never been a case in which my duties and sympathies have been so continually in conflict. I have never prosecuted a man whom I so sincerely pitied. The defendant appears to be a man of very warm feelings, a sincere friend, and a devoted husband. As such I honor him. Would that we had more men in the community like him."

Mr. Thayer succeeded for the defence, presenting the various points in the case, especially those which related to the alleged insanity of the prisoner.

FROM NICARAGUA - Details of the Copture of Anlerson-By the Star of the West, the N. Y. Times has the following letter:

Astronable, Jan. 4.

The most important news I have to communicate by this mail, is the capture by Capt. Sands, of the United States steam-frigate Susquehanna, of the Balance of the fillibuster force under Col. Anderson, and their arrival on the 30th ult., at this port in the U.S. warsteamer Fullon, Capt. Anny. This was the party which ascended the Colerado into the San Juan river, and took possession of Fort Castillo. Capt. Sands, in the capture of this force, went to a still further extreme than did Commodore Paulding in landing on Punta Arenas. It ascended the river San Juan into the interior of a foreign nation.

I will give you the facts as I have them from a high official source. Nicaragua and Costa Rica, in view of their common danger, it is presumed, came to an understanding on their differences, and sent 400 men to San Carlos at the entrance to the Lake, and 100 to Castillo. Anderson, finding himself closely pressed and likely to be caught, his stores being short, prepared the steamer Ogden, embarked his men on her, and then wrote to Captain Sands, asking his views in legard to his surrender. Capt. Sands replied that he was ready to receive him and his men if they came and delivered up their arms. Subsequently, Anderson burned all the buildings about Castillo, sestroyed the machinery of a steamer at the Rapids, understood to be the Virginia, and having killed all the cattle and pinudered all the merchandise within reach, started down the river. Capt. Sands came upon them under these circumstances, mue miles up the river, in the steamer Chast Morgan, full of armed men, and captured them without any resistance of course. The Ogden was placed in charge of Mr. Cottrell, U.S. Consul at Greytown, who has also charge of the Charles Morgan, until the rightful ownership in them is shown. Capts Sands thinks there is a little irregularity in the extreme measures he too

The plethora of money coutinnes, but there is still very great difficulty in negotiating street discount, and at those banks where two first class names are required, it is difficult to find any considerable amount of paper that comes up to the standard. The abundance of capital, however, will work a change in the tone of feeling, and gradually restore that confidence which has been impaired.

The principal city banks had a meeting to-day at twelve o'clock, to consider the question of allowing interest on deposits. Nearly all of the city institutions had previously resolved to discountenance the practice, and some who had formerly adopted the system, had voluntarily abandoned? It appears that a few of the banks connected with a view to obtain a general expression of opinious upon the subject that this meeting was called. It is still in esseion.

STATISTICS OF LOWELL MANUFACTURES. - Messrs. S W. Husa'& Co. have issued in a very compact form full statistics of Lowell manufactures, compiled from authentic sources at the commencement of the present year. From this publication we learn that the number of mills in Lowell is fifty-two, the capital stock of which is $13,900,000. The average wages of females, clear of board, per week, is $2, of males per day, clear of board, 80 cents. The increase in the population of Lowell for the last ten years was 12,589. The several manufacturing comparies have established a hospital for the convenience and comfort of persons employed by them respectively when sick, which is under the superintendence of one of the best of surgeons and physicians.

J. R Diller has been confirmed by the Senate as consul to Bremen.

The Washington correspondent of the Evening

There was a rich scene in the Senate when Fitch of Indiana, in personal explanation, attempted to so pervert the meaning of the Indiana resolutions as to avoid condemnation of him elf; but words are so pervert the meaning of the Indiana resolutions as to avoid coordemnation of him elf; but words are words, and have an accepted meaning which Mr. Fitch is not lexicographer enough to change at once. Mr. Douglas turned upon him and gave him an explanation of his understanding of larguage, and amplified upon that of the Indiana delegate till the Indiana locum tenens turned blue, and will probably discomit his etymological studies for a long time to come. Mr. Hale then managed to get the late New Hampshire resolutions in, and accused the Indiana delegation of plagitatism. He kept the Senatorial dignitaries in a titter for several minutes. I observed, however, that Mr. Fitch did not seem to share the general annusement.

The Union publishes, by itself, a report of the attack of Senator Davis, of Mississippi, on Mr. Douglas, last week, not remarking that Mr. Douglas was not in the chataber. He had gone home, supposing that, as usual, there would be no debate after the executive session. The administration papers try to give the impression that he did not reply, because he would not risk an encounter with Senator Davis. When he is present, and declines one, there will be an occasion to discuss the reason for it.

WHY WE HAVE NO THUNDER IN WINTER .- Prof. Espy, in his fourth Meteorological Report, thus explains why we have no thunder in the winter:

If it is asked why we have no thunder in the win-ter, though the tops of the storm clouds rise even in this season to a region where the air is at least considerably charged with electricity, perhaps the answer may be found in this—that the storm clouds in the winter are of great extent, and of course the tension of the electricity, being extended over a very large surface, is very feeble; and the substance of the cloud being itself framed out of vapor much less dense than that of summer clouds, this tension may not be able to strike from one particle of the cloud to the next adjucent one; no general discharge can take place. Besides, even in the winter, during can take place. Besides, even in the winter, during a very warm spell of weather, with a high dew point for the season, we sometimes have a violent thunder storm from a cloud of very limited horizontal extent, as the thunder clouds always are in the summer. Such a cloud is in reality an insulated pillar of hot air, mingled with condensed vapor, having just given out into the air itself its latent caloric, causing the air at the top of this cloud, in many cases, to be 60 degrees warmer at its top than the air on the outside at the same level. air on the outside at the same level.

It is related that, at a recent election in Worcester, a candidate for alderman went up to vote very near the close of the polls, and taking a ticket scratched his name off. His rival for the office asked him why he did this, saying that he himself put his own name in the ballot box. So he scratched his own name on again. Soon after he was found to be elected by one vote, and that his own vote, cast at the solicitation of his rival.

This vexed puss extremely, and he said: "As long as I live I will eat first and wash my face ofterwards." which all cats do even to this day. afterwards;" which all cats do even to this day.

William Smith, in Milwaukee, Wis., was fined $30 for kissing Mrs. Louisa Blasbait, a Dutch lady, weighing 250 pounds. The deed was done on the sidewalk, in the presence of her husband, who said: "I vas so mad I could not shpeak."

Quite a Rot Adventure.—Some time ago a lady in this city, while dessing for church, thought she felt something moving between her dress and skirt, but after shaking them paid no more attention to the cir-cumstance until seated in her pew at church, when cumstance until seated in her pew at church, when out fell a rat upon the floor, much to the cousternation of several other ladies in the pew. Sad Mistake .- Major Beale, the chivalrous Vermonter, has just returned from his European tour, but his fellow-townsmen are astonished and horrified at his altered appearance. When in Paris, he challenged a French Colonel, and, the weapons being swords, at the first stroke the Major's nose was severed close to his face. Hastily picking up and replacing the organ, he tied his handkerchief over it. After leaving on the bandage for eleven days he re-moved it, when to his consternation he found that he had placed it wrong side up and it was now healed. Although it looks ugly, he finds it very convenient for taking snuff — Augusta Constitutionalist.

Portentous Extravaguace of Women.—Such is the rage for red flannel petticoats abroad that Dr. Charles Mackay had felt called upon to rebuke it in a little song entitled the "Red Petticoat and the White." It is needless to say that the poetical Doctor expresses a decided preference for the white. The handkerchief mana is also prevailing violently, in consequence of which every lady is forced to carry two—one for use in the pocket, and the other for display in the hand. They are edged with lace. Price 500 francs, or $1,200 a dozen. To carry the more expensive article, boxes of pearl have been expressly invented. These are worth from $50 to $75. From these figures it will be seen that it will soon cost as much to keep a woman in handkerchiefs as it does to keep the rest of the family in boots, buttons, and house rent.—N. Y. Post.

A REFORM DIPLOMATIST .- We recently stated the New York Post, we should infer that our reformatory representative at the Prussian Court had visited Paris on his way thither:

"The Emperor of the French," said an American uot long ago, "may be a clever mau in his wa,", but he seems to me not to understand what is due to a uot long ago, "may be a clever mau in his war, but he seems to me not to understand what is due to a friendly sovereign residing in his capital;" and when asked to state in what respect his Majesty had failed to meet his expectations, the exacting gentleman replied, that he had been in Paris be could hardly telthow long, and living in a style, his friends told him, becoming a sovereign, and yet the Eungeror had given no indication of being few rate of his presence here. "The sovereign of England, said he, "and even the King of Fortugal, and the chiefs of other small European States were called upon and treated with the highest honors as soon as they reached Paris, while a sovereign from the United States, the greatest country in the world, remains unnoticed for a whole season."

"It is quite true," observed a vindicator of European customs, "that America is of vast ex eat, possessing a fertile soil, large rivers, and a safu rious climate; bu nevertheless without wishing to detract from the enterprise of her people, I venture to suggest that they are entitled to no particular consideration on account of these grand characteristics. In the earthwisten of an American for the e elements of greatness, it would seem that he contemplates them so in enselv as to conceive that they are the result of his own genias; and then, with a facility of imagination quite remarkable, fancics that all Europe mast know the position he occupies at home, and what he has done for the improvement of his country. The domestic habits shall undergo a change also, and, instead of dining at right, and sitting several hours at the table, at my boarding-house, the dinner hour shall be 12 o'clock in the day, and 15 minutes will be sufficient time to dispose of the dinner. So that, if Baron Manteuffel, or any other distinguished person should dire with me, he must dispatch his dinner in the Western style."

Mysterious Paragrapu.—The following is from the Albany correspondent of the N. Y. Courier:

It is stated that Mr. Fillmore, by the pleasautest of all incidents of life, is to terminate the present occupancy of the Schuyler Mansion in this city, the of all others in the North most distinguished in its historical associations.

ACCOUNT OF AN ALMOST UNKNOWN COUNTRY ACCOUNT OF AN ALMOST UNKNOWN COUNTRY.
The San Francisco Herald, 5th inst., sanounces the arrival in that city of Mr. P. McD. Collins, on his return from one of the most interesting expeditions of modern times, over land, through Northern Russisa, from St. Petersburg to the Amoor river. The journey occupied exactly one year.

Twelve months ago Mr. Collins left St. Petersburg, traveled from thence to Moscow, by railroad, and from thence through Siberia in sledges and telegas to Chetah, the capital of the Francisch Proventies.

gas to Chetah, the capital of the Frans-Backel province, situated on the river lugodal, one of the main sources of the Amoor, where he waited for the breaking up of the ice in the river, and then, accompanied by four Cossack soldiers and by Mr. Falhelm, the Governor of the Russian American Company at Ayan, proceeded down to the Autoor, and along the river to the Profile river to the Pacific.

From Mr. Collins we have obtained much interesting information in relation to the vast region through which he traveled, and about which so fittle is known. He speaks in the highest terms of the Russian officials with whom he had intercourse. Russian officials with whom he had intercourse. Americans are everywhere highly regarded by the Russians, and are always treated with every courtesy and respect. The party of which Mr. Collins formed one were not molested by the N madic ribes who inhabit a great portion of the region through which they traveled. They found it necessary, however, to be cautious in their intercourse with them. During his journey, Mr. Collins stopped for some time at Kyackta and Mianuattschin. These towns are located side by side. The former is inhabited by the Russians, and the latter by the Chi. that are located state by side. The former is in-habited by the Russians, and the latter by the Chi-nese. The boundary line of the two nations runs between. It is marked only by a beard fence. They are both walled in and fortified. At this point all the legitimate trade of the two countries is carried

To Miamattachin, the Chinese convey from the interior their teas and other goods on bullocks and camels, and to Kyackta the Russians bring their camels, and to Kyackta the Russians bring their commodities, and in this way the exchange is made. The trade which centres at this point is estimated to amount to over 30,000,000 of roubles per annum. While at Kyackta, Mr. Collins essayed to enter the Chinese dominions, and proceed to Pekiu, which is about 850 m les to the south. He joined an embassador, sent out by the Russian Government to treat with the Emperor for the purchase of the country lying along the Amoor river.

The whole of this region, according to a treaty made in the reign of the Empress Catharine, belongs to the Chinese; but the Russians are now in possession of several portions of it. They are willner to to the Chinese; but the Russians are now in possession of several portions of it. They are willing to acquire it by purchase, but if an overture to that effect is rejected, they are prepared to take it. Neither the Russian ambassador nor Mr. Collins could obtain permission to proceed to Pekin, and they were both obliged to return. The Russians have greater facilities of obtaining correct views in relation to matters in China than any other nation in the world. There is in Pekin what is termed the Russian College. It consists of ten missionaries of the Greek Church. These ten missionaries remain for ten years, and are then replaced by ten more. During the decade of their sojourn, they are not permitted to fill any vacancies that may be caused

During the decade of their sojourn, they are not permitted to fill any vacancies that may be caused by death or any other casualty. They are treated in the Chinese capital with great respect, and are allowed a guard of honor. Through the ageucy of the college, the Russian Government obtains reliable information of everything that transpires at the court of his Celestial Majesty. After his unsuccessful attempt to penetrate through the Chinese territory to Pekin, Mr. Collins proceeded to Chetah, situated at the headwaters of the Amoor river. The province of which it is the capital is rich in mineral resources. It abounds in mines of gold, silver, and copper. The gold is found in the river bed and gulches. There are no quartz mines. The annual yield is estimated at fifty millions of roubles. The silver mines are very rich.

They are both worked by the convicts transported to Siberia by the Russian government, under the supervision of military officers. Private parties are not permitted to take out the precious metals in this section of the country. In other places they are allowed to mine under certain restrictions, and are obliged to pay the Government a certain per centage

THE SWAAR APPLE.-We have lately examined that Mr. Wright, our Minister to Berlin, had signal- some very superior specimens of this fine apple, iz d himself by discarding the use of wine at his grown by Mr. James Bate. It is but little known diplomatic and complimentary dinners. By the in this vicinity; it should be more extensively culfollowing extract from the Paris correspondence of tivated, for it has but few peers in its season. In favorable seasons, when the fruit remains on the tree long enough to attain perfection, it is a good keeper, hence any specimens which are perfect in January will generally keep well till May. Like most northern winter apples, it is liable to fail here from premature ripeuing, but not more so than other kinds not so goed in quality but better known. It is thus described by Thomas, in his American Fruit Culturist: "Rather large, roundish, slightly flattened at the ends, often considerably oblace, sides regular'y rounded, crown as wide as base; color greenish-yellow, I econing a rich yellow, cometimes faintly russeten, and a small blash near the base when much exposed to the sun; stalks rather slander, threefourths of an inch long; cavity round, moderate, or often small; basin small, even; flesh yellowish, finegrained, compact, tender, with a very rich, wild, arounitic, agreeable, slightly sub acid flavor; esteemed by many as the finest winter table apple; ripens through the winter and keeps into spring.

[The following is a portion of the letter from our Frankfort correspondent, written on Saturday, which was omitted by mistake:]

Leave was granted to introduce a bill to amend the law of registration of births, deaths, and marrieges, making the duty less expensive to the State, and a bill to impose a tax upon bachelors for the relief poor widows and orphans.

Mr. Delavea also obtained leave to bring in a bill establishing additional voting places in the city of Leuisville. Members from Louisville had leave to bring in the following bills of herel interest to Louisville.

An effort was made to hold two sittings of the Legislature each day—one at 9 o'clock, A. M., and another at 7 o'clock, P. M. It is generally understood that such motions are made by ambitious young members from time to time to make capital. with their constituents, some of whom do not know, perhaps, that the great labor of the session is performed in committee when the Legislature is not sitting. The House has met heretofore at 10 o'clock, A. M. It will meet in future at 9½ o'clock.

Mr. Boarman offered a resolution to-day instructing the proper committee to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill to take the sense of the people upon the subject of the removal of the capital. Mr. B.'s plan, I believe, is to remove the seat of government to Lebanon, in Marion county.

The Chairman of the Committee on Religion of-fered a joint resolution, which lies over one day, providing that the Legislature shall adjourn sine die on the 4th proximo—one day before the time expires to which the session has been limited. The resolution will be tabled, I presume, as it is generally supposed the session will be protracted a fortnight beyond the sixty days prescribed.

ELEVE.

THE MYSTERY OF THE CHINESE SMALL FRET EX-The Mystery of the Chinese Santa PLAINED.—Through the aid of the missionaries I was afforded an opportunity of examining the feet of several female children who were undergoing the crocess of having their feet deformed in the approved Chinese method. The first was a child of two years old. Her penance had just commenced. When the baudage of blue cotton was taken off, I found that the great toe had been left untouched, but the other four had been forced down under the ball of the toot, and closely bound in that position. The child therefore walked upon the knuckle joints of her four toes. The tween were red and inflamed and the livestage. tweefore walked upon the knuckle joints of her four toes. The toes were red and inflamed, and the ligature caused evident pals. In the next three children (all of ages advancing at small intervals), the preparation was only to the same extent—it was confined to the four toes; gradually, however, these four toes, yielding to the continual pressure, lost their articulations, and their identity as limbs, and become amalgamated with the sole of the foot. In the eldest of the four, the reduess and the inflammation had entirely disappeared, the foot was cool and painless, and appeared as though the four toes had been cut off by a kaife. The foot was now somewhat the shape of a trowel.

In the fifth girl I saw the commencement of the second operation, a torture under whick sickly children frequently die. The sole of the foot was now curved into the shape of a bow, the great toe and heel being brought together as near as possible. Take a jujube and double it till two points of the lozenge nearly meet, and you will see what I mean. This is done tory exadually. The handare is near lozenge nearly meet, and you will see what I mean. This is done very gradually. The baudage is uever slackened—mouth by month it is drawn tighter the foot inflames and swelis; but the tender mauma perseveres; as the bones and tendons accommodate themselves to the position constrained by the bandage, so it is drawn tighter. At last the ball of the natural foot fits into the hollow of the sole; the root of the great toe is brought into contact with the heel. The foot is a shape less lump. The instep is where the ankle was, and all that is left to go into the slipper and tread the ground is the ball of the great toe and heel. This is the small foot of the Chigreat toe and heel. This is the small foot of the Chinese womau—a bit of toe and a bit of beel, with a mark, like a cicatrice left after a huge cut, running up between them. Two of the girls were yet suffering great poin, and their feet were hot and inflamed, but in the eldest the operation was complete. She had attained to the position of a small-footed woman, and her feet were quite cool, had no corns, and were not tender to the touch. One of the mammas, influenced perhaps by a little liberality in the article of rice money, entrusted me with a Chinese article of rice money, entrusted me with a Chinese mysterie de toilette. Sometimes, it seems, when a woman is expected to have to do hard work, her toe and heel are not drawn so tightly together as to produce the true "sma!l foot." To disguise this imperfection, upon her marriage-day she has recourse to art. A piece of cork, shaped like an inverted sn-gar-loaf, is strapped on to her foot, and the small part goes into her slipper and passes for foot. Thus are we poor men deceived!

THE ORCHARD.—Lose no time in resetting the orchard. A young tree should not be planted in the same place where an old diseased one has stood, nnless the earth is removed, and virgin soil pelted in around it. Examine the bark of the apple and pear tree, and destroy the eggs of insects; scrape the gum from around the roots of peach trees, and pour boiling water into the holes of the worms that have caused the gum. If the soil in the fruit orchard be now manured, plowed lightly, and mulched all over with leaves or straw, the crop of fruit will be improved astonishingly next season. If rabbits bark young trees, rub their tranks with soft country soap. Plant out orchards of apples, pears, and peaches. Select straight, well-formed trees, budded or grafted low down. Patronize only those nurserymen that take up and pack trees with care, and then plant them carefully. Young trees are generally planted too deep; the young rootlets want the surtace-soil, and not the subsoil. Therefore small trees are safer to plant than large ones. In planting out a tree, the ble should not be dug as if a past was to be planted. to plant than large ones. In planting out a tree, the hole should not be dug as if a post was to be planted. The hole should be dug three times as large as the roots extend. Fresh surface soil should be filled in roots extend. Fresh surface-soil should be filled in around the roots, and the tree planted firmly at once; it is a bad practice to water the roots at planting; the tree will hardly get a firm hold in the ground; the ground should be moist, but not wet. Much of the prosperity of the orchard depends upon the first setting of the trees.—Cotton Planter.

Mr. Kirby, in his celebrated "Introduction of Entomology, 's states that a lady seriously assured him she could distinctly hear the steps of a flea while passing over her nightcap, and that it clicked as if stances, proved highly beneficial, and in otherseffected a decide toure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly eccentiff which pleases, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Pr. Fersor, Boertave. Because of its great-success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intruded more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there ever the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged. NIGENT'S FRENCH AND ENGLISH AND ENGedged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in itseffect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickeving every nerve, raising op the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vicor in the system.

NOTIC'.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be dissippined; but to the cick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remodul properties.

Beaton. In 15 large octavo volumes of about 750 two-column pages.

This work has now reached the fourth volume, and is giving great satisfaction among all classes. It will contain the wildown of Congress for seventy years, and will be an invaluable part of the history of the country. It is of national interest, and one of the most valuable compendiums for public and private libraries ever issued. The work realizes a desideratum ising felt, and of all others, for the political history of the Government, most wanted. Its wide range of characters, each one speaking for bimself and representing his own party, and its far stretch of time, make it of the greatest value to the nation. The indexing is very complete, so that any name or subject desired may be found in either volume at once.

Sr. Louis, Jan. 18. Gentlemen from Kansas, by last night's train, state that Calloun was to commence counting the returns of the election of the 21st of December on Thesday last, in the presence of the presiding offi-cers of the Legislature and Donver. As soon as this is done, a messenger will be dispatched to Washing-ton with the vote and the State constitution. Calton with the vote and the State constitution. Cal-houn would not leave the territory till after the re-turns are made from the election of State officers. The result of the election on the 4th inst. is still uncertain. Col. Henderson, of Leavenworth, was forcibly taken from a stage, a few unles from that city, by a party of free State men, on the 11th. He has not been heard from since.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. The store of Wilson, Midgely, & Jennings, corner of Duane and Church streets, was broken into on Satuarday night and five thousand dollars' worth of silk goods taken therefrom by the expert housebreakers. Two of the robbers were caught in the act, one of whom proved to be Chauncey Johnson, the celebrated burglar who stole $35,000 in money from the Bank of the State of New York a few years since. Johnson has only been released from Sing Sing prison a few mouths. All of the goods tolen have been recovered.

The number of daring burglaries have been large-on the increase lately; in fact this form of crime is quite a mania among city rogues at present.

AFFAIRS AT FRANKFORT. [Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] FRANKFORT, Jan. 16, 3 P. M.

I am informed that there is no where within the boundaries of Kentucky a complete compilation of the Reports of the Decisions of the Court of Appeals of this Commonwealth. It is indeed remarkable that this great source of legal information has been neglected by our S are authorities from time to time, and that we have so long been groping our way in comparative darkness as to the opinious and decisions of the highest legal ziplung known to our State or of the highest legal tribunal known to our State or-ganization. It is said, however, that an opportunity will soon be offered for Kentucky to avail herself of the herculean labors of a distinguished gentleman of another State, who has rescued those invaluable re-cords relating to our Appellate Court from oblivion, and compiled the same in a convenient form, and that he will offer the results of his great outlay of time and money to the present General Assembly. I do not doubt that the members of the Legislature I do not acute that the members of the Legislature will eagerly take advantage of the opportunity to place in the archieves of each county of the State a collection of legal information which has no parellel, perhaps, in the modern history of law. Indeed, if the current Legislature should consummate an act of such great benefaction to the State, it will have of such great benefaction to the State, it will have accomplished far more of good than I had conceived for it in my imagination. I will have more to say upon this subject, perhaps, hereafter.

The election will take place on Thursday next, in Madison county, to fill the vacancy in the lower house occasioned by the death of the late William Chenault. The Speaker of the llause, without consultation with Judge Field, the colleague of the late William Chenault, issued his writ for the election to take place on that day, without allowing the shoriff take place on that day, without allowing the shcriff of the county sufficient time to give the legal notice of said election. For example, the law requires that eight days' notice of the election shall be given in a newspaper pullished in the county in which the election is to be held; the order having been issued on Thursday, however, for the election to take place the following Thursday, it was impossible to give the required notice. The question of the legality of the election may arise hereafter, and it is well that the election may arise hereafter, and it is well that it may be understood at once where the responsibility should fall. It was certainly due to Judge Field that he should be consulted in reference to the proposed election; and, while ro one will be disposed to censure the Speaker of the House with the perpetration of a studied informality in the premises, it is a source of regret that the error has been fallen into. In the meantime two very popular gentlemen of Madison county one canvassing to fill the vacancy, and the election, whether legal or illegal, will be held on Thursday next.

held on Thursday next.

Two bills of con iderable importance, which originated in the House, were rejected by the Senate to-day—one limiting the time in which actions may be brought and motions made to set aside sales under deeds and executious, and the other giving circuit and chancery courts power to confirm sales of infants'

The committees to which they had been referred were discharged from the further consideration of the leaves to bring in bills to abolish the quarterly courts of the Commonwealth and to form a new county from pertions of Hopkins, Union, Caldwell, and Crittenden counties.

A joint resolution was offered in the Senate to-day appropriating $200 from the State treasury to Dr. A. W. Vallandingham, of this city (the Democratic candidate for State Librarian), to enable that gentleman to prosecute a suit against the Mayor of Indianapolis for false imprisonment. It is suggested that the Doctor has received a sufficient endorsement from his State in being nomina ed for a responsible office in the gift of the Legislature, and, while I think he was very wrongfully imprisoned, I do not think he was very wrongfully imprisoned, I do not think that his wounded horor needs the vindication of a $200 appropriation to enable him to prosecute his enemies. We have had an almost interminable Dred Scott case—and I trust we are not to have a Vallaudingham affair of equally dreadful features. The resolution lies over until Monday under the rule. A great many propositions have been made during the present session by members of both Houses to allow worthy and pious cribbles to peddle in various counties without license... I view these projects to make an except in to a general law as exceedingly make an exception to a general law as exceedingly dangerous expedients. If cripples are so worthy and deserving, I commend them to the Senators and Representatives from their immediate county or dis-Representatives from their immediate county or district as subjects of special acts of charity rather than as recipients of special acts of legislation. Enough money has been lost to the State during the present session in efforts to obtain these special grants to peddle, to pay the license of every peddler in the Commonwealth who desires to peddle, and, to the credit of the General Assemby be it said, I believe no such grant has yet been made. A bill of that description was referred to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate to-day. A bill to amend the 864th description was referred to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate to-day. A bill to amend the 864th rection of the Civil Code, and a bill to amend the 450th rection of the same, were each also referred to the appropriate committee in the Senate to-day. Senator Sudduth introduced a resolution to-day calling upon the Anditor for information in regard to the realogical survey of the State, which will

In the same connection Mr. Har-

Mr. Lindsey reported a bill regulating jailors' fees for keeping United States prisoners, which was referred, together with a bill to prevent the wanton destruction of fish in Green river and its tributaries.

A bill was also reported to postpone the term of the Franklin Circuit Court, which was referred, and which will deubtless become a law. This proposition will afford all the relief which the sherilfs of the Commonwealth are asking in the matter of paying over the revenue of the State, by deferring the term of the Court with which their settlements are

It is generally known that there is no act of the kind upon the statute books, the present Keeper holding under the provisions of a special contract between him and the State. The hill was simply read by its title and referred, but I am informed that it provides a satisfactory mode of settlement with the present Keeper, and makes the sum accruing to the State from that institution $8,000 per annum, instead of $6,000, as herestofore.

Leave was obtained in the House to-day to report the following among other bills: A bill for the benefit of Green Chapet, of Nelson county; a bill to supply the public grounds at Frankfort with cistern water; a bill to repeal the act establishing a uniform weight for coal; a bill to anthorize the county judge of feefil county to ligness to act with all the county in the county of the county weight for coal; a bill to anthorize the county is weight for coal; a bill to anthorize the county to license ten-pin alleys; a bill to change the time for the meeting of the General Assembly; a bill to allow the establishment of bowling saloons in counties in which watering places are ELEVE.

TRIAL OF JOHN B. ROBERTSON, AT ROCHESTER. TRIAL OF JOHN B. ROBERTSON, AT ROCHESTER, CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO DESTROY THE LIFE OF HIS WIFE.—This trial was fairly commenced on Tuesday. an expare statement, it bears nearly againt Mr. Robertson. The main facts recited by the prosecution are, that Mrs. Robertson, up to a year ago last fall, had enjoyed good health. She then had a limb broken and was prostrated for some time. Subsequently the elder Biegler was arrested and brought to Buffalo for trial ou the charge of manslaughter. We quote from Mr. Huston's speech:

The defendant exhibited a powerful—an intense interest in the case of this physician—Dr. Biegler. That interest was powerful, persistent, strong, beyond adequate motive; he went to the police office and offered bail for his release from custedy, and brought everything in his power to lear to secure his discharge from confluement. In course of time that man was convicted—this defendant standing by him with money and influence, expending, it is said, $2,000 or $2,500 and time to procure his acquittal. When Dr. Biegler gets to Auburn, defendant follows him there, meeting him several times to consult. While there he gets prescriptious for Mrs. Robertson.

Mr. Huson's argument contains nothing further.

Mr. l'Inson's argument contains nothing further, except such facts or statements as are developed in the evidence.

The evidence of young Biegler may be summed up to the effect that he was called to attend Mrs. Robertson in June last; did not really understand her disease; lost conidence in his own diagnosis: but learned the diagnosis from defendant, that it was disease of the heart; (a very singular statement) that Robertson came to him saying that there was one medicine necessary for his wife's life and health—comam—and a consultation took place, in which Robertson seems to have been on consultations.

health—contem—and a consultation took place, in which Robertson seems to have been on equal terms so far as professional knowledge was concerned.

That in subsequent interviews Robertson had complained to him that his life was miserable: that he had thought of suicide; his wife was a trouble to him, and witness narrated several scenes of matrimonial felicity described to him by defendant, which Mrs Robertson can swear to or contradict, as the facts may be. That defendant and witness went to Auburn together, to see the prisoner Biegler, and on Auburn together, to see the prisoner Biegler, and on the way back the proposition of a slow death for Mrs. R. was opened.

The proposal of defendant to witness was that he should administer to Mrs. R. such medicines as would gradually put her out of the way. This witness objected to, and defendant offered terms.

We quote from the Union's report: He said he wanted no active violence, but all he wanted me to do was to "furnish him medicines that would gradually increase the diseases that linger about Mrs. R." He gave me assurances of salety at that time. He wanted me to tell Mrs. R. that she must live on strong diet. hat she must drink ale. He said he wanted to have me give her medicines which would cause cangestion, and finally appolesy. He asked me if I heard fathand finally apoplexy. He asked me if I heard father say that she might live on a strong diet. I told him no. He said that he had told me he did not know as he could assist in paying my instalments but that he could do so if I served him in this. He said he would aid me in obtaining a pardon for my father—that he had men in Buffalo whom he owned, and others here, and some in Albany — trait they could pull the cords pretty light around Judge Clinton and the jury, to get an expression from them in my father's behalf. He said three men in Buffslo would move 9 of the 12 jurors.

S BY WAY OF CALIFORNIA .- Mr. Bell left Salt Lake City on the 8th of November, and after two days' traevling, short stages, encamped for a day or two. While encamped an express arrived from the city, who informed them that Colonel Johnson had arrived at Ham's Fork and taken the command; that communicatious, short but expressive, had passed between the Colonel and Governor Young, the result of which was that Colonel Johnson ordered his command to be ready the next morning for an advance on Salt Lake City, where he intended to winter. Ham's Fork is about a hundred miles from the city. The Mormons are stationed at Echo Canon, about fifty miles from the tioned at Echo Canon, about fifty miles from the city, through which the troops must pass. A collision, therefore, was inevitable, as the Mormons were in great numbers and were being rapidly reinforced. A march of two or three days would bring the troops in front of their opponents.

The rumor we alluded to in our last respecting the burning of a number of wagons, has been confirmed by Mr. Bell. The wagons were the property of the government contractors and seventy of

A body of armed mounted men came at night to the camp, told the wagon-master what they intended to do, gave him time to awake his men and remove their baggage and bedding; told him to select a wagon to take his party back to the States, which he did, and they then set fire to the whole train, lurning up seventy-six wagons.

The cattle were driven into Salt Lake City.
With regard to the Indians east of Salt Lake it is more than probable that Colonel Johnson has propi-tiated them, and they will be found if not on the side of the government, at least neutral. In case of resistence to the troops there are is ev-ery reason for the confidence that Colonel Johnson will force the passage of the canon, and make good his advance on the city.

his advance on the city.

The force of the Mormons has been greatly over estimated—almost every man has been enrolled. In passing through the settlements, Mr. Bell found that the men generally had been called out to the mountains, and yet the whole force fell far short of ten thousand men.

The winter had set in with severity. In the city the snow was two inches deep; and in the mountains where the Mormous were encamped it must have been from six to twelve inches deep.

He converted calmly in relation to the awful deed, manifesting no concern for himself, speaking of the manner in which he deprived his parents of life, as if he had been butchering hogs. He says, for about four or five days something seemed to tell him he must have a number of hearts; this was repeated to him many times during the day; he seemed to live in Sherburne, and a wire came over the ed to live in Sherburne, and a wire came over the hill, connecting with the room, telling him he must have a number of hearts; some one who lived in Sherburne seemed to telegraph for them. Yesterday I went again, placed an axe in the room, intending if I could flad my brother and his wife sitting dawn to kill them both at once. It seemed as if I must have both their hearts, but I did not find them so situated. About dark I went over to my father's and found him and my mother sitting; she was sewing. I immediately struck her with a skillet on the head, and broke'it. I then struck my father over the head three or four times with the remains of the skillet, and attempted to get the axe. On arriving I lay down upon the lounge, near my father and mother, and slept for some time—until near morning. On awaking I left the house and met several persons coming toward it. I do not recollect who I had informed of the deed previous to this. As they approached me some one said "here is Bill." This was about eight rods west of my father's. They awas about eight rods west of my father's. They asked me what I had been doing. I told them it was none of their business. Part of the company hild me while a couple of them went to the house, and afterwards they took me to Potter's, where I

During the night after the deed I attempted to end my own life and thus close the tragedy. I af-terwards went to my brother's house to kill him and his wife. I kicked the pannels of the door in, but they had gone away.

DAILY REVIEW OF THE MARKET, LOUISVILLE, January 18. }

cleared out by night. The quality of the cattle on the average was not very good, although there were a few fine lots. We noticed a few pairs of premium steers which were held at 12 @13c, but were not sold. Prices have declined nearly $\frac{1}{2}$ on the average, but there were quite a number of sales at 10 % and a few at higher rates. At Chamberiains' the market was quite brisk and a number of sales are reported at 10 %c. About 250 head changed hands at Bergen Hill this week.

Gow and calves are in moderate request, except for extra-
